How to Bring CaliforniaColleges.edu to Your School District

CaliforniaColleges.edu is the State of California’s one-stop shop for all the resources students need to set goals for life after high school and make plans to achieve them. Our tools are designed to empower students to take their college and career journeys into their own hands. To guide your decision on when to bring CaliforniaColleges.edu to your school district, consider taking the following steps:

► Learn About CaliforniaColleges.edu

From discovering more about their career interests, to choosing the right college and major, to completing their college and financial aid applications, students can find the tools they need to succeed all in one place. Read our fact sheet or watch our video on what tools are available on CaliforniaColleges.edu.

► Understand What Partnership Means For Your District

Through a partnership with the California College Guidance Initiative (CCGI), your school district will gain access to all the tools and resources available on CaliforniaColleges.edu. Read our guide on the preparation process to determine whether your district is ready to partner with CCGI.

► Submit Your Intent to Partner Form

Once you’ve confirmed that you’re ready to bring CaliforniaColleges.edu to your district, email CommunityEngagement@CaliforniaColleges.edu and request an Intent to Partner Form. Once you’ve submitted the form, a CCGI staff member will contact you about next steps.

What Students & Educators Are Saying About CaliforniaColleges.edu

I use CaliforniaColleges.edu for everything college related. It would keep me on track for what I needed to finish for high school and what I needed for college.

Katrina Cating
Heritage High School

CaliforniaColleges.edu empowered students to have informed conversations with me. It also gave the family information about what they can do to support the student. I can’t say enough about how this platform has really supported my work as a counselor.
